Acknowledgement

The operations of the Bank may involve you receiving or having access to or knowledge of the Bank's sensitive, confidential or secret information. It is your responsibility and obligation to maintain the highest professional standards to ensure that this information is properly and professionally handled to protect the Bank's commercial interests and to ensure compliance with regulatory and legal requirements. Failure to follow these principles will jeopardise the Bank's reputation and business, and may result in disciplinary action being taken by your employer against you.

In addition to and without altering the legal obligations you already have to keep information secret, you promise not (except for the purposes of properly performing your obligations for the Bank or unless required to do so by law or any regulatory or investigative authority) either during the course of your engagement on behalf of the Bank or after it has ended, whether deliberately or otherwise, to disclose or communicate any information that is sensitive, confidential or secret or belongs to the Bank.

You should assume that all information which you come across during your duties, that is not already obviously public knowledge, is confidential. This includes all business information, business and client data, (including information relating to trading positions or other holdings in securities, whether proprietary, discretionary or advisory), ideas, suggestions, concepts and other intellectual inputs. However, information that consists of general know-how or is a matter of your own skills or general or commercial knowledge is not confidential.

Confidential information must not be used to trade on your own account or for trading by other persons such as family or friends. If you divulge and /or abuse information in this way, you may be subject to criminal penalties and you are likely to be barred from further employment in the securities or futures industry.

Before the end of your engagement on behalf of the Bank you must return to the Bank (or, at the direction of the Bank, destroy) all confidential information without retaining it in any form. All other documents, data, manuals, security keys and other items which are the Bank's property and which may be in your possession or under your control should also be returned at this time.

All trade secrets, inventions, writings and other confidential information developed or created by or with your assistance during your engagement by the Bank in the context of the Bank's business or related activities shall be governed by the terms of the Bank's contract with your employer.

You agree that you will at the request and expense of the Bank:

- give and supply all such information and assistance that may be reasonably necessary to enable the Bank to use this intellectual property to its best advantage; and
- where ownership in the intellectual property vests in the Bank, execute all documents that may be necessary or desirable for obtaining patent or other appropriate protection for this intellectual property in such parts of the world as may be specified by the Bank.

You should be aware that you may not for any purpose whatsoever use any such intellectual property in which the rights are owned by the Bank in any way other way than in the direct interest of the Bank unless you obtain proper prior written permission.

Persons receiving or having access to or knowledge of HR Information should treat such information as though it is the Bank's commercially sensitive, confidential or secret information. In addition such persons should not misuse HR Information. The misuse of HR Information includes the use of such information, whether directly or indirectly, to gain a personal advantage or to profit.

A breach of any of the responsibilities set out in this agreement may constitute misconduct and may result in summary dismissal by your employer.

Singapore Banking Secrecy

To the extent that you have access to customer information of UBS AG Singapore Branch, you shall:

1. not disclose directly or indirectly to any person, firm or company or use other than for any legitimate purposes any confidential information;
2. not, without the prior authority in writing of the Bank, remove from the Bank's premises, or copy the contents of, any documents, computer disk, tape or other tangible items which contain any confidential information or which belong to the Bank;
3. be subject to and strictly observe the provisions of Section 47 of the Singapore Banking Act (Cap 19), as amended from time to time, which states that customer information shall not, in any way, be disclosed by a bank in Singapore or any of its officers to any other person except as expressly provided in the Banking Act.

Definitions

In this agreement the following terms have the following meanings:

"Bank" means UBS AG and/or any of its affiliates or related companies.

"employee" and "employment" include arrangements legally constituting employment and also other arrangements for provision of services including those supplied by a temporary service provider or by an independent contractor/consultant.

"HR Information" means information relating to the employment status of employees within the Bank or ex or future employees and may include details relating to their compensation, performance, position or other employment data.

"intellectual property" includes but is not limited to patents, trade marks, service marks, design rights, inventions, improvements to procedures and confidential information arising or existing anywhere in the world.

Declaration

I understand that any breach of the above provisions during and after my business attachment with the Bank shall result in UBS AG reserving the right to undertake civil or criminal proceedings against me.

I have read and understood the above clauses and agree to be bound by their terms, during my business attachment with the Bank and any time thereafter.
